The Wonsan beach area is swarming with North Korean police, and army guards are stationed every hundred yards along the beach. Trenches are being dug along the coast.*

- The North Korean and Chinese Communist troops are certain that an invasion is coming in the Wonsan area soon. The troops are very confused, worried, and "trigger-happy." The North Koreans believe that ROK marines are active in the area and that one battalion of marines has already landed. North Korean police and army guards are searching for UN and ROK representatives believed to be in the area; the North Koreans think that UN personnel are linking up with ROK marines as part of a large invasion plan.
- 3. Chinese Communist troops are being sent to Wonsan, from the southwest and from the north.
- There are some anti-aircraft guns south of Wonsan in the hills. These have not been used at night.
